HOW PENNSYLVANIA WAS CARRIED

The Republicans have carried Pennsylvania by a rousing majority, on a straight issue for hard money A correspondent of the New York Tribune writing ten days before the election says that in the early summer the Greenbackers seemed to be carrying everything before them The Democrats in their platform made concessions to the fiat folly, and the Republicans had heretofore dodged the question The writer adds the following which shows what sense honesty and courage will do

When the Republican state committee began to organize for the campaign, the first reports it received were to the effect that Greenbackers were carrying everything before them in some of the western and northern counties and that unless something was immediately done to counteract their influence the state was already as good as lost The state committee did not waste much time in deliberation but determined at once to make the canvass for hard money and preservation of the public faith with the National creditors Hard money documents were not plenty, but one of the first things Colonel Quay the chairman of the committee did was to order a supply of the papers published by the Honest Money League of Chicago to be sent into the western counties of the state This was followed on the 10th of August by the speech of Hon Galusha A Grow, delivered in the very hotbed of Greenbackism, and striking the key note of the campaign. The Republican newspapers of the state also wheeled immediately into line Those which had before been sound on the money question became more aggressive, and those which were halting between two opinions came out boldly on the right side The people of the state have responded nobly to the efforts of the Republican committee and ever since the campaign fairly opened the Republicans have been making a steady advance and perceptibly growing stronger every day No one longer doubts Republican success

Ohio Next Year.

[Columbus Special to the New York Tribune]

A calm review of the results of the recent election shows a few things for the Republicans to regret and many indications of brightness for the future When they look forward to next year the Republicans are fairly jubilant Their most cautious political prophets say that if Thurman will continue to support the Ohio Idea in accordance with his speeches in the last campaign the Republicans will carry the state by 830 000 majority and secure both branches of the legislature They base this prediction upon the statement which is made here by the Republican managers and generally believed namely that the Republican victory this year was due to the votes of hard money Democrats whom Thurman drove out of the party So alarmed are some of the Democrats by this fact that they are talking already of holding an early convention next year and repudiating the platform of the last one But a change of front is equally dangerous now The Republicans will probably nominate Charles Foster for governor by acclamation and will make a campaign which will be memorable in the history of Ohio politics

Big Offer for Beecher.

[From the Chicago Tribune]

Mr Beecher's California lecture tour was so profitable in a pecuniary point of view that he will probably lecture in England Scotland and Ireland next summer A bargain to that effect has been made between him and Hathaway & Pond of the Boston Lecture Agency and the contract is ready for the signatures The plan is for fifty lectures, delivered within a period of three months and Mr Beecher is to receive $25 000 and have his traveling expenses paid It is said that this firm has cleared $20 000 on Mr Beecher's lectures already which fact has induced them to enter into this new engagement with him If the great preacher has not outgrown the Tilton business he has at least been able to rise above it and his audiences are now larger than ever and he is in great demand everywhere Mr Thomas Maguire a theater manager planned and conducted Beecher's recent visit to the Pacific coast He paid $1 000 each for ten lectures and an additional $1 000 toward traveling expenses

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

PORTLAND Nov 4 1878

To the Editor of the Oregonian

As everything relating to the conduct of our public school is of interest to you and the people generally I wish to inform you of an unpleasant affair connected with the recent public examination of teachers by which it may be judged the ... and difficulties likely to be encountered by innocent and unsuspecting parties I have only to state facts ... the clearest proof My daughter Ella ... being a candidate was assigned a seat and with the ... an unpleasantness Not being in town at the time I did not hear the ... until my return a few days after when my daughter informed me that she had passed a good examination but was refused a certificate on the ground of fraud or suspicion of cheating and that her disgrace had already been openly proclaimed by Prof Warren in his school She also stated that she had called on Mr Macrum three times without getting satisfaction At first he had not had time Next he stated the suspicions and the consequences that would follow her failure and finally at the last interview agreed to grant her a private examination On learning these facts I at once called upon Mr Macrum at his office and courteously discussed the matter He brought no charges or gave me any satisfaction but inquired why she had not come to be reexamined as agreed I replied that we considered him influenced by personal feeling toward me which of course he disclaimed I then served notice of appeal to the state superintendent and withdrew A short time after it occurred to me that I would like to see the examination papers a right that I supposed belonged to me as well as others and returned to his office where I found him and Captain Wilkinson I requested to see the papers and was positively refused and told to get a mandamus if I wished to see them that he knew his own business etc etc and that if I determined to prosecute the matter to its conclusion to go ahead to which I replied that my daughter was aspersed and that I should not rest until she was proved innocent or guilty, or to that effect He then said "Why don't she come and be re-examined as she agreed?" Because I replied that would be acknowledging her guilt and I will not allow it "Well, then he said what do you want? A certificate on that examination" Certainly said I she has had no other. He then said I had never been demanded and that he had not refused to grant it and if she would call he would give it to her Will you do it now I asked or on Monday morning? No he would not give it to me at all, but would send it to her by the middle of the following week through the mail The certificate was duly received and thus ended a most unpleasant and uncalled for controversy after being the town talk for over a week to the great scandal and mortification of an innocent young girl I leave the public to judge whether such conduct should be tolerated in an officer to whose honor we are obliged to confide our most sacred interests—the honor of our families

As the case now stands he either had no ground for withholding the certificate or he has issued one contrary to law and his oath of office He states positively that he had not refused to grant it (which I deny) but if so by what authority is the positive announcement made by Professor Warren before his school (within three days) that a young lady had been refused a certificate because of cheating and afterwards repeated by way of admonition I can hardly think Professor Warren would have been in such haste to publish a conclusion so dishonorable to any daughter if true or to himself if untrue without what he considered good authority Leaving them to define their own motives I will close with the remark, that it is strongly suspected by parties in a position to judge that a second class certificate has been issued in place of a first class justly due

[From the Louisville Courier Journal

Mr William Christian and his lovely young wife of Hanover county Va were seated together in their parlor The air was damp and chilly and the husband suggested that a fire be made There had been no fire in the parlor hearth since last spring but in a few minutes the back logs were piled up and a cheerful blaze went up the chimney and in a few minutes later a terrific explosion took place Mrs Christian was instantly enveloped in flames and fatally burned Mr Christian was also seriously burned but it is thought he may recover Neighbors, hearing the noise arrived in time to extinguish the flames Mr Christian now remembers that last summer he laid a bundle of powder in the fire place and forgot to take it out

SECTIONAL POLITICS.

A note comes to us in which the writer says: "I have read your remarks on the elections, including observations on the 'solid south.' You profess to deplore sectional divisions; yet you say that 'so long as the south is organized to wield all its political influence and power on one side, the tendency will be to produce corresponding unity of action in the north on the other.' Do you not see that statements like this foster the very idea of sectional politics which you profess to deprecate? The south is united because it remembers the oppressions of the Republican party, and fears their renewal. If the north unite again, it can be only for the purpose of once more setting up its domination over the south. It is not probable that you will ever get a 'solid north' again on this issue."

It was only our purpose to show in the article which the writer refers to that the fact that the south is organized to wield its political influence as a unit tends powerfully to produce a like result in the north. However ingeniously one may argue that a solid south should not make a solid north, the fact remains that this is the effect, and it will become more apparent now since the south, after all force has been withdrawn and all interference has ceased, is more solid than ever. It makes a solid north, on simple principles of antagonism and opposition. The north sees the south united, and judges it is for a purpose. Great exertions, by means which would not be tolerated in the north, are made to carry every southern district; and with such success that we hear of but two Republicans elected to congress from all the southern states. No one can doubt that if a fair canvass and election were allowed, the Republicans could elect at least thirty members in that section. But this is prevented by methods which the country very well understands. Now the question which people of the northern states ask themselves is, with what purpose does the dominant party in the south pursue this policy? And the conclusion at once is that they have objects in view which are hostile to the principles, wishes and interests contended for by the northern people through the long struggle, of which this renewal of sectional effort in the south appears to be a continuation.

If the dominant party in the southern states did not show so resolute a purpose to suppress all organized political opposition, and if it were possible to elect Republicans even where the Republican vote is notoriously two to one, the reasons for apprehension and distrust would not be presented so forcibly to the northern Republican mind. But wherever there appears a probability that a district will be won by the Republicans a campaign is carried on like that which has just terminated in South Carolina and other southern states by making every district Democratic. The south thus forces a sectional issue for the contest of 1880. It is a mistake to suppose that the north will not respond to this action. So sure as a[illegible]m begets antagonism will the persi[illegible] solid south create a solid north. It [illegible] done so heretofore, and will again. On this occasion, as many members of congress as this policy has gained for the Democrats in the south it has given to the Republicans of the north; and in the next elections when greater things are at stake, it will produce results more observable still. Under just this kind of opposition from the south Republican strength in the north has always developed. In common with many others we should prefer to see a different basis of party division, but we shall not see it so long as the southern states wield their power as a united force, suppress political opposition in their midst, and seem to threaten results which the north believes it has reason to fear and oppose. For a time it was hoped that this antagonism would disappear before the next national contest, but now it is apparent that it will be the main basis of that contest. The south made itself too "solid" in the late elections.

"FIAT" GOLD AND SILVER.

Several times the question has been asked us by advocates of fiat money, why the paper of Venice was not only as good as gold, but actually above gold for a long series of years. The fact that such was the case is supposed to prove great things in favor of the fiat theory. In reality it proves the reverse. It was fiat gold which was below par, that is gold of light weight; and the bills of Venice represented gold of approved weight and fineness. In the middle ages it was the almost universal custom of kings and potentates to debase their coinage. Pressed for money they tried [illegible] of fiat by melting down their coins, adding a large amount of alloy, and issuing a new coinage, supposing the royal mandate could make the money as good as before. But there was no despot in Europe strong enough to prevent the depreciation of the coins. Besides, there were many coins clipped by private individuals for purposes of gain. When the great commercial republic of Venice rose in those dark ages of debased fiat coin it saw that business could never be done in such money as was then in circulation, so its great bank proclaimed that it would take coins as they came in, not at their false "fiat" value, but at their real value. That is, the bank would weigh and test each coin and give credit to the depositor for the actual gold or silver it contained, and then give him for it notes of the bank promising to pay him on demand the true amount of the precious metals he had put in. At once then the paper of the bank rose not only to par but above par, because it was a promise to pay real money, whereas the roubles, maravedis, doubloons, etc., bore on their faces false statements of values, which were detected whenever the tests were applied. In other words, the bills of the bank of Venice appeared to be above par because the coins of the stupid and cheating kings of Christendom were below par. The goldsmith's scales were a test of the value of the coins, and acts of legislative authority and decrees of despots had to yield to a test so applied. Instead of being an argument for fiat money the history of this incident affords one of the strongest of all practical arguments against it. Our fiat silver dollar is destined to teach us a similar lesson presently.

Gov. Garvin, of the Choctaw Nation, in his last message, just published, urges the natives of the Indian territory to unite in opposition to the proposed bill for reorganizing the territory. He claims that the adherence [illegible] separate tribal organization and to the system of tenure in common, has saved [illegible] principal tribes of the territory from [illegible] has overtaken others. Under [illegible] argues, Indians must live and [illegible] make a note of this as an opposite view from that taken by those persons here and elsewhere who insist on breaking up the tribal relations of the Indians and bestowing on them lands in severalty. But it is to be observed that the conditions which surround our Indians are very different from those pertaining to the tribes in the Indian territory.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Times states that to Mr. Hassard, of the Tribune staff, belongs the whole credit of discovering the key and translating the cipher telegrams. The whole mass was turned over to him, and he worked six weeks on the enigmas without gaining a single point. He then began to work on the dates, the number of words in the several classes of telegrams, looked up the occurrences happening in the localities at the time, etc, and before he knew the tangled threads began to unwind, and in a fortnight he was in possession of the whole secret.

There were a few yellow fever cases in Gallia county, Ohio. A panic ensued and a general stampede. This was just before the October election. The county usually gives a Republican majority of above 1,000. But on account of the stampede the vote this time was light, and the Republican majority very small. In consequence, Horton, Republican candidate for congress in that district, was beaten.

Tony says "Democrats in Massachusetts, as well as in Oregon, will learn some day that renegades do not make good candidates for office." They may add that knowlege then to the discovery already made in Oregon that experts who certify easily and swear with facility, do not make good candidates.

The official returns of Walla Walla county give Brents 662 Caton, 515. Skamania county gives Caton 33 majority, and a majority of 27 against the constitution.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Through a sense of gratitude for the many benefits and blessings enjoyed by the people of this state during the past year, and in compliance with a venerated custom, I hereby appoint Thursday, the 28th day of the present month, as a day of thanksgiving.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Oregon to be affixed.

Done at the city of Salem this, the 6th day of November, A. D. 1878.

W. W. THAYER,
Governor of Oregon.

By the Governor:
R. P. EARHART, Sec'y of State.

Vile Journalism.

[From the Christian Intelligencer.]

With great regret all respectable people have noticed the demoralization of some of the great newspapers, which have become the constant purveyors of all the sensational scandals and shameless crimes of the period. Formerly the respectable journals took no note of shameful petty offences against decency and order, and they scrupulously omitted the purient details of greater crimes which were unfit for publication. Now these things are printed with headings in capitals that are big enough to stare modesty out of countenance, and to invite the appetite of the most sensual. These things are so thoroughly shameful and shameless that they degrade all such newspapers to the ranks of the "Satanic press."

AMUSEMENTS

GUY MANNERING —This beautiful dramatization of Sir Walter Scott's novel was produced at New Market Theater last evening A large apprecia[tive] and we may with truth add, enthusiastic audience was present The play had been carefully rehearsed and was produced with every attention to correct costume and mechanical adjuncts. The piece in its entirety was very handsomely mounted and ran smoothly throughout The scenic effects were remarkably fine and much credit is due Mr Porter the clever scenic artist As the aged haggard and weird witch, Meg Merrilles Miss Dargon only added fresh laurels to a reputation already firmly established among theatergoers of this city She is justly entitled to the very enviable and eminent appellation the Charlotte Cushman of the American stage Her acting throughout may be characterized as effectively powerful, and almost painfully realistic In make up, in voice form and all the essential requirements of the part—that of the repulsive old witch Miss Dargon was perfection itself She showed herself equal to the dramatic exigencies of each situation and in many trying scenes and vehement declamatory passages evinced a power and suppressed intensity which only a tragic queen could possess Mr John Lind say as Dandie Dinmont appeared to the best possible advantage. His acting was very easy and natural, and his dialect excellent The minor parts were entrusted to careful and competent hands All of the original music by Sir Henry Bishop was rendered with an effect quite pleasing To night Guy Mannering will be repeated for the last time. All who have not witnessed this beautiful romantic play should not fail to improve this opportunity To morrow afternoon Deborah will be repeated at the matinee for the last time Seats are being rapidly reserved for the matinee performance To morrow night Lucretia Borgia with Miss Dargon in the title role

MODERN MIRACLES

Dr C M Wood the well known healer returns to his practice in Portland after a rest of six months His great cures of men women and children some of which were published in THE DAILY and WEEKLY OREGONIAN during last winter has brought hundreds of letters from anxious sufferers desiring information as to the permanency of his cures In order to satisfy those desiring such information he will publish from time to time through THE OREGONIAN the original certificates of cures and when possible to communicate with such patients a certificate of their present condition, $1 000 for feited if every cure he has ever published was not genuine as stated

Dr Wood

Will heal the sick of chronic diseases at corner of Washington and Front street, Portland All curable diseases successfully treated when every other method fails. Cure of Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhœa

For the benefit of suffering humanity I deem it my imperative duty to make known to the public what has been done for me by Dr C M Wood Having been subject to dyspepsia for some 12 or 14 years, and continuing to grow worse until about four months ago when it ran into chronic diarrhœa and assumed a very dangerous condition—so much so that I found I would be compelled to stop my duties or find some relief, and having seen one of Dr Wood's circulars I concluded to consult him and finally to be treated by him for one month the result of which I give in a few words I feel that I am as sound as I ever have been and that so far as my disease is concerned I am perfectly cured

JOHN B CURRY
Mailing Clerk, Oregonian Office

PORTLAND, Oct, 31 1878

MADE HIS ESCAPE.

A San Francisco exchange of Nov 2d contains the following

On Tuesday afternoon B C Hughes who is wanted in Salem Oregon to answer the charge of breaking into a safe and stealing $300 was arrested here and lodged in the city prison to await the arrival of an officer from that State On Thursday afternoon he was released from custody on a bond [illegible] $3000 with Chris Brown and C Woodbury as sureties The bondsmen went to Judge Thornton of the District Court and represented that Hughes was held in the city prison to answer a charge of forgery and that they were willing to qualify to the necessary bonds for his release Brown was evidently known [illegible] Judge [illegible] ley [illegible] you went [illegible] some years ago [illegible] that it was not worth [illegible] is that remarked Judge Thornton Now you are sure you don't want me [illegible] Brown's bidders was not wherein the bonds were signed and the order [illegible] discharge.

Shortly after his release Detective Dan Coffey received a telegram from Oregon that the requisition had [illegible] signed by the governor and that an officer [illegible] will arrive with the necessary papers at [illegible] here to day Coffey to make sure [illegible] his prisoner was safe went to the prison where he was thunderstruck by the intelligence that Hughes had just left He immediately procured a bench warrant for his re arrest but as yet he has not been able to find him It turns out that Hughes' bondsmen are professional ones and that judgments have been entered against them in the 15th District Court on bonds forfeited These judgments to the number of five are as follows C Brown and others $1 000 C Brown et al $1000 against Brown and dismissed as against the others C I Rooney and C Brown judgment of $300 against Brown C Woodbury and others, judgment of $800 against Woodbury, Paul L Barbier and C Brown, judgment for $3 00 James D Fay, acting prosecuting attorney of the police court, says he will enter execution on these judgments at once but he fears that nothing can be realized Brown, who lives on Dolores street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth qualified for a parcel of land in that vicinity and Woodbury who lives at 700 Greenwich street for land in San Diego county

The bail it appears was originally set by Judge Louderback at $3000 On Thursday afternoon, after the adjournment of the court, a young man presumably in the employ of Coghlan & McGuire, went to the police court room clerk and asked for a blank bail-bond and order of discharge, which were given him While the clerk was filling out this order the young man said the charge was forgery and the clerk not having his calendar before him, so made the charge The bail bond is therefore absolutely worthless as it was not for forgery at all that Hughes was held but for being a fugitive from justice

The money market works along very quietly and easily, the call for loans being moderately active, and met with the usual readiness at the same rates which have prevailed for several months past. The inquiry from wheat buyers is rather less than was anticipated, owing the disinclination on the part of the farmers to sell their grain at current prices. Some complaint has also been heard at the slowness with which remittances from the interior are made, but the prospect in this respect is improving.

The large amount of work being done in the way of improvements on real estate creates a very considerable demand for funds in the local market.

In San Francisco, at latest advices, money was more plentiful and rates inclined to weaken.

In the east business was recently somewhat disturbed by financial troubles in England, with which this country is so closely connected in commercial matters that any serious revulsion in the one must to some extent be felt in the other. England's capital, it has been apparent for some time, has been more or less impared by various causes. Some of her debtors have failed to pay either principal or interest when due on their obligations, her India provinces have poured less than the usual amount of wealth into her treasury, her shipping trade has fallen off, other nations have entered into a successful competition with her manufactories and added to all she has had the cost of expensive wars in Africa and Asia to pay, so that she has been growing poorer and poorer, until the strain is affecting her whole business interests, and through them some important departments of American trade.

Home Produce.

The wheat market abroad has shown an upward tendency nearly the whole week past, and local buyers in urgent need of lots to meet the requirements of vessels on hand, the lay days of which were about to expire, paid as high as $1 67½ for choice grades of shipping, but it is reported the want has, temporarily at least, been met and that since yesterday prices in the home market eased off to $1 65, at which the cereal is quotable firm to day. In regard to flour the market is firm and really higher, although quotations are not given above those given last week. The demand is better, and good lots can be readily placed without the "cutting under" which had been practiced very generally up to a few days ago.

Shipments to Europe of wheat are slow this season compared with former years, not on account of high freights or scarcity of tonnage, for ships have been offering in abundance at low rates almost the entire season, but because of the depressed condition of the grain markets of Europe. The improvement of the past week may continue, but should it not, we may look for a very great degress of dullness, at least until after the holidays.

Other than the slight excitement in breadstuffs, there have been but few points in the local market to note. Prices, as a rule, have been steady and for articles which are shipped to San Francisco the prices quoted by many dealers here are regarded as high, inasmuch as they are worth less in that market than the Portland jobbing prices. This has been noted especially in regard to dried fruits, which are reported to be very dull and low there. Quotations for seasonable products are found below.

A Novel Notice.

The following notice can be seen posted up at a mining claim in Utah. It certainly has the merit of originality of spelling and composition:

We the undersigned for mining purposes clame this ground and entend to work it right off we own it by congress laws of the united States of 1872 in may on the 10 and we clame spurs and angels in every directions and we air going to have it put down in the records and filed and have it patented pretty soon our mine aint fur from durants mill in car fork in bingham and we air going to comply with the local laws and we calculate to put out our corners eaks right off and call it the lizey an load September 20 1878.

The recent order for the purchase of gold bullion at Charlotte, N. C., and Denver, Col., is a complete success, the miners being very glad to sell their bullion for its coin value in legal tender notes, less the charges for melting, assaying, etc. The same regulation will soon be put into effect at Boise City, Idaho, and Helena, Montana.

APOTHECARY & CHEMIST,
Ankeny's New Market Theater Block
Portland, Oregon.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals an Medicines.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

DR. BRENAN has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

DR. BRENAN will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
